To Prevent Man From Tear-

Commissioners Award A Number Of Contracts

From Court House

Judge Blair was called from his bed at midnight to grant an injunction in the case of the Mt. Vernon Telephone Co. vs. Hiram Debolt and W. K. Robertson. Deputy Clerk of Courts Taylor was also called out shortly after midnight to receive the papers in the case.

The plaintiff, the Mt. Vernon Telephone Co., claims that Debolt recently purchased the old Baptist church in Centerville and employed Robertson to move the structure. The allegation is made that it would be impossible to remove the building onto the road on account of the telephone wires, the property of the plaintiff. It is alleged that Robertson threatened to move the building across the road regardless of the damage, consequently the injunction was sought by the plaintiff in the common pleas court. The papers were filed in the office of the clerk of courts at 11:50 o'clock Tuesday night, after Deputy Clerk of Courts Taylor had been called from his home by telephone. Judge Blair was also called to the court house and granted a temporary injunction in the case at the midnight hour. Bond was fixed at $100, which was furnished by the plaintiff. The attorneys for the plaintiff are S. M. Crouch and Harry C. Devin.

By Hotel Employees

(Newark Advocate.) William Creeden, who a couple of weeks ago retired as manager of the Hotel Warden, Saturday night was presented with a double Elk tooth handsomely mounted watch fob, by the employees of the hotel. The presentation speech was made by Henry Salvini, chief clerk, and he became quite eloquent as he told of Mr. Creeden's excellent qualities and the high esteem in which he had always been held by the employees. Mr. Creeden for a time was almost overcome and was too choked up to talk but he finally recovered himself and made an excellent speech of acceptance and later did the honors by passing around the box of imported Floradors.

CONTRACT

Not Yet Awarded For New School Building

Although there is little question but that Robert C. Anderson of this city will be awarded the contract for building the new west-end school, there is a certain amount of "red tape" to go through with before the award can formally be made by the board of education. Mr. Anderson's bid of $40,000 was the lowest of six, when the bids were opened Tuesday afternoon by the board.

In addition to routine business, the board awarded Mr. Fred Hagaman the contract for 20 tables for the first grades.

Adjourned.

DIES FROM LOCKJAW

Does a Seven-Year-Old Boy at Newcomerstown

Carl Grewell, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Grewell, died at his home two miles south of Newcomerstown Monday morning from lockjaw.

Ten days ago the little fellow, accompanied by his sister, was out in the yard picking mulberries from a tree. He was standing on a box and jumped off onto a rusty nail which was sticking up from a board on the ground. The nail pierced his heel. Blood poison developed resulting in lockjaw. Death finally relieved his suffering. Carl was a bright little fellow and the unusual manner of his death has shocked the entire neighborhood in which he lived.—Coshocton Age.

Shortly afterwards the sheriff received word that a strange horse and buggy had been tied to a post at the Sharp greenhouse, west of the city. Sheriff Woolison went out after the rig and brought it to Mt. Vernon.

About noon Wednesday the marshal of Marengo arrived here and took the horse and buggy back to the owner in Marengo. The marshal did not give Sheriff Woolison the name of the owner of the stolen rig or the manner in which it had been stolen. There is no trace of the person or persons who stole the rig.

AMERICAN CONSUL REACHES MEXICO CITY

Reports Conditions There as Exceedingly Pitiful.

Washington, July 7.—Direct confirmation of the earlier reports about conditions in Mexico City was received at the state department. A message sent out by Consul Shanklin and Red Cross Agent O'Connor, who have just succeeded in reaching Mexico City, states that conditions in the capital are "exceedingly pitiful." They despair of getting food supplies into Mexico City under existing conditions, but will make vigorous efforts to obtain medical supplies which they had to leave temporarily at Pachuca. Intense suffering exists among the poor people of Mexico City. There is no prospect of an agreement between the Carranzistas and Zapatistas for any co-operation for the interests of the capital, and further fighting on the edge of the city is imminent.

Red Cross Agent O'Connor reported also that after the conference with the various relief agencies and other well informed persons he could state that in the Mexico City region this year's planting is only from 10 per cent to 50 per cent of the normal. The relief problem is vast, he states, and much more acute in the small cities than in the capital itself.

The state department also received from an American who has just completed an extensive tour of northern Mexico a statement that famine conditions in that region are quite as serious as they have been described to be.

CARRANZA OBDURATE

Questions Right of Wilson to "Meddle" in Mexican Affairs.

Vera Cruz, July 7.—General Carranza, leader of the Constitutionalists, will not lift a finger to stay warring factions in Mexico, and furthermore he resents the attitude of the United States toward his government. He questions the right of President Wilson to "meddle" in Mexican affairs. These were the sentiments expressed by the first chief of the Constitutionalists to John R. Silliman, the special representative of President Wilson, at a recent conference held here. Mr. Silliman urged General Carranza to take the first step in a movement toward arbitration of Mexican difficulties.

Child Killed by Motor Car. Toledo, July 7.—Lottie Smisek, Ave. was run down and killed by an automobile. The car was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pesz, just married, who were on their way to a photographer. Joseph Wiley, negro chauffeur, was arrested.

Thomas Knauss Dead. Columbus, July 7.—Thomas E. Knauss, sixty-eight, retired manufacturer and capitalist, is dead. For the last seven years Mr. Knauss had been in ill health. He was a veteran of the civil war.

THREE COUPLES

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding on The Fourth

Besides being the 139th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence—a rather important event in the eyes of Americans—Sunday, July 4, 1915, in Bucyrus, was remarkable for another thing—it was the day on which three couples celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries. Two of the three live within the confines of that city, in fact within three blocks of each other, while the third couple resides four miles south of Bucyrus, still close enough to look upon that city almost as their home.

It is unusual, to say the least, for three couples married in the same town of Bucyrus—as Bucyrus was little in 1865—on the same day, to be spared to celebrate their golden wedding anniversaries almost within hailing distance of each other, after having spent their entire married lives within a circle having a radius of only a few miles.

The three couples who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. James H. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mollenkopf, and Mr. and Mrs. David Shealy.

POLITICIANS

Are Arraigned At Indianapolis,
Today

Indianapolis, Ind., July 7.—Mayor Bell of Indianapolis, Thomas Taggart, the leader of Indiana Democrats, and national committeeman, with 126 others indicted by the county grand jury, are to appear in court today for arraignment. The indictments, which were returned last month, have caused a sensation that exceeds even that of the Terre Haute expose.

All of the indicted politicians and election workers have furnished bail. When they are arraigned today, it is believed they will ask for an early trial. It is expected that the trials will take place in the falls and that the indicted men will ask for separate trials.

Although the Indianapolis indictments are on fully as wide a scope as the Terre Haute case, they are brought under the state jurisdiction, instead of federal.

Included in the list of men indicted are politicians "higher up", as well as workers at the polls, henchmen of the politicians, gamblers and police officers. Most of the men are Democrats, but there is a liberal sprinkling of Republicans. One of the most prominent of the latter is Robert Metzger, former chief of police and sheriff.

Taggart and Bell have asserted their innocence of the charges, and declared that the trial of the case will vindicate them.

The penalty for the charges against the indicted men carries a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $5,000, and imprisonment of not less than two years or more than 14 years.

The Marion county grand jury, which returned the indictments on June 22, conducted an investigation lasting six months, and heard nearly 2,000 witnesses. Previous to their action, the federal investigators looked into the charges, but it was said that the United States district attorney found no circumstances in the alleged frauds that came under the federal jurisdiction.
